Collin McNamara Issues Debate Challenge to Opponent Patrick Testin

Stevens Point, WI - With just over 50 days until Election Day, Democratic State Senate Candidate Collin McNamara challenges Republican incumbent Patrick Testin to debate ahead of the November 5 general election for Wisconsin's 24th Senate District in Stevens Point, Necedah, and Black River Falls.

McNamara released the following statement: "The people of the 24th District deserve an opportunity to see Senator Testin and myself side by side and hear directly from us where we stand on the issues facing the hard working people of Central Wisconsin, from the rising costs of everyday essentials, to inaccessible and unaffordable medical treatments, and struggling public schools. I look forward to joining Senator Testin on stage and discussing how each of us would address these issues and many more should we be honored with your vote".
